CONTEMPORARY PAINTING, PHOTOGRAPHY, PRINTS, & SCULPTURE

Message from the Founder, Marsha Ralls Update from ArtAspen 2010

The Ralls Collection just completed the first annual ArtAspen fair. It made for an exciting mountain weekend to connect with our existing clients and meet new art lovers and patrons. We were pleased to have placed works from four of our artists in new collections through our participation at the fair – Nicole Charbonnet, James F. Dicke II, David Richardson, and Aspen valley artist Kris Cox. Mr. Cox will have a solo exhibition in 2011 at the Ralls Collection in Georgetown. Please mark your calendar for the next ArtAspen 2011, August 4 – 7 in Aspen, Colorado. I promise you it will be a unique art-buying experience.

David Richardson: Trojan War Years October 6 - December 31, 2010

This fall, the Ralls Collection will premier Trojan War Years, the first of three series of paintings by local artist David Richardson. In the last decade, Richardson has painted three important series of works. The first, Trojan War Years, not only precedes the others, but it also continues to manifest. The impetus for the series came while Richardson lived in Japan. Wandering around Tokyo, Richardson noticed the Kanji inscriptions that the Japanese used to mark temples, civic buildings, and businesses. Fueled by his interest in the way Kanji weaved into the architecture of Tokyo in addition to his passion for Homer's recollection of the Trojan War, Richardson began incorporating the symbols into his own art, eventually securing the foundation for Trojan War Years series.
